

What happened to Northvolt AB?

Sweden's Northvolt AB was Europe's best hope of rivaling the giant Chinese companies that make most of the world's electric vehicle power cells. It ran out of money after a series of operational blunders and filed for bankruptcy protection in November, giving its owners a temporary lifeline while they cast around for fresh funds and new partners.

Why did Northvolt AB file for bankruptcy?

(Bloomberg) -- Northvolt AB filed for bankruptcy protection in the US after a desperate bid to secure rescue funding fell short, leaving the struggling battery maker with just one week's cash in its accounts. The Swedish electric vehicle supplier will seek to restructure under Chapter 11 of the bankruptcy code, it said in a statement on Thursday.

Could Northvolt be a big EV battery company headquartered in Europe?

Northvolt has been their best shot at building a big, thriving EV battery business headquartered in Europe. Were the company to fail, ongoing progress in battery technology could make it even harder for another European company to attempt the same feat.

Is Northvolt a hole in the EU's electric vehicle ambitions?

The collapse of Swedish battery maker Northvolt AB has left a hole in the EU's ambitions for electric vehicle success - but also a potential three-hundred-million-euro hole in its budget. The company filed for bankruptcy protection under the US Chapter 11 procedure last week, as it only had about $30 million (EUR28.81m) in cash remaining.

How will Europe respond to the Northvolt Saga?

People involved in the Northvolt saga said options were narrowing for Europe to address its dependence on China and other parts of Asia for the technology and materials that will be critical as the automotive industry transitions to electric vehicles.
