This consisted of three 330kW Enercon E-33 wind turbines. The immense success of this project meant that Phase 2 (a further three E-33 turbines and three flywheel storage systems) was commissioned and began contributing power to the grid in February 2010. On average, just over 30% of Stanley's power requirement is met by the Sand Bay wind farm.

o As the share of renewable energy in the grid mix grows, the demand for long-duration storage solutions to manage intermittency and ensure a stable power supply is increasing. o Governments and regulatory bodies are introducing policies and incentives to promote the adoption of LDES to meet climate goals and enhance grid resilience.
