Does Red Box Energy Services ship to Novatek?

(Source: Planet.com) Red Box Energy Services isn't the only Western company transporting modules prior to the war, but it is the only one left offering its services to aid in the completion of Arctic LNG 2. In addition to Red Box, Norwegian GPO Heavylift also provided shipping services to Novatek in the past.

Who is ZPMC vs Red Box Energy Services?

China's state-owned ZPMC Group found itself on the losing side of a legal ruling in Hong Kong against its former joint venture partner Red Box Energy Services. A Hong Kong High Court judge ruled against ZPMC as it challenged an earlier arbitration ruling that had gone the way of Red Box Energy Services.

What happened to ZPMC-Red Box Energy Services?

ZPMC-Red Box Energy Services purchased two ice-breaking 25,000 dwt PC-3 module carriers in 2016 - Audax and Pugnax - that were deployed initially at the Yamal LNG project in Russia. The waters soured, however, when ZPMC took a joint stake in GPO Heavy Lift during 2017.

Why did red box win a shipping arbitration in Hong Kong?

Red Box secured Shipping arbitration awards in November 2020 in Hong Kong stating that ZPMC was in breach of its shareholder agreement. The September 2021 ruling at the Hong Kong High Court supported that initial arbitration outcome. Audax and Pugnax are now under the control of the now Singapore-based Red Box.

Is red box using its own interpretation of the sanctions?

Red Box may be using its own interpretation of the sanctions, which does not explicitly talk about the 'transport' of LNG technology. "The sanctions [could] merely apply to the producer/reseller of the technology and do not target the transportation service. It could appear that this is Red Box's interpretation," elaborates Lasserre.

RED BOX ENERGY SERVICES was established in 2014 to provide marine transportation solutions of ultra-heavy offshore platforms and modules for high value energy infrastructure projects designed and built by leading Energy & EPC companies.
