Is Georgia a good state for solar?

Georgia is one of the top ten states for solar use, due largely to its sunny climate. The state is supportive of solar, offering homeowners the option of selling back excess energy through a net metering program. What's more, there are financial incentive programs offered locally and through individual installers.

How do I find a solar installer in Georgia?

Ask for licenses: Solar installers in Georgia need to be associated with a "licensed electrical contractor," according to the state government. You can ask potential installers or search their licenses with the state or a national certifying board, like the North American Board of Certified Energy Practitioners.

Are solar batteries a good investment in Georgia?

One of the most important and helpful incentives for solar customers across the country is net energy metering, which credits you for excess energy production and reduces your future utility bills accordingly. Georgia doesn't mandate net energy metering, but solar batteries can help mimic the program.
